

Mission Statement—Department of Counselor Education

The University of Georgia Department of Counselor Education is dedicated to providing a high-quality, evidence-based education for students who will serve as counselors in schools, community agencies, and other settings. We are committed to the development of our students' professional skills and ethical awareness, and to the advancement of the field of counseling.

The Department of Counselor Education is dedicated to providing a high-quality, evidence-based education for students who will serve as counselors in schools, community agencies, and other settings. We are committed to the development of our students' professional skills and ethical awareness, and to the advancement of the field of counseling. The faculty believes that this program provides a rigorous and comprehensive education that prepares students for the challenges of the profession. We are committed to the development of our students' professional skills and ethical awareness, and to the advancement of the field of counseling.

The Department of Counselor Education is dedicated to providing a high-quality, evidence-based education for students who will serve as counselors in schools, community agencies, and other settings. We are committed to the development of our students' professional skills and ethical awareness, and to the advancement of the field of counseling. The Department is a member of the Council for the Accreditation of Counseling Programs (CACREP) and is a National Certified Council on the Education of Professional and Technical Educators (CERTE) program.

